Taiwan - The Keshu suspension bridge

Crossing the Houlong River main channel in the Miaoli County, the Keshu Bridge is Taiwan's first suspension bridge for road traffic. Its unconventional design is supported by a groundbreaking technology, which ensures the bridge to withstand large earthquake forces and be stable during the most challenging typhoon conditions. Opened to road traffic in July 2006 after conducting the required...

Qatar - Barjeel: the wind tower

The recently finished Barjeel Residential Tower represents, with its 220 metres of stunning height, the tallest building in Qatar. It consists of 54 floors, 2 of which are fully reserved to host six two-storey mega-flats while a whole level is entirely dedicated to two extra-luxury residences. In addition, the two top floors of the tower are hosting world-class restaurants. Located in West...
